Opening: Wilmer Wilson IV at Susan Inglett Gallery

Wilmer Wilson IV was one of the breakout stars of the 2018 New Museum Triennial, where he showed a series of works made by applying staples to low-resolution photographs. His first New York solo show will include more of these stapled photo-portraits, as well as large-scale ink drawings and blurry photographs that Wilson snapped while moving at a fast pace. By obscuring the views of his subjects, Wilson asks viewers to question the norms of portraiture.
