In the Swing of Things

This week brings a grab bag of music, film, design and parties-this oughtta keep you occupied and out of trouble-or in it, depending in the evening. In NYC check out dance parties like Fixed and Old Skool Reload with one of BB's fave bands, K, kicking off the night. In LA, Eva Hesse has drawings at the Hammer and in London, Americans invade the Serpentine Gallery.

NYC PICK OF THE WEEK:

Hope Gangloff Exhibition at Susan Inglett Gallery

Drugs, sex and rock and roll: Always a winning recipe for artists. And it's no different for Hope Gangloff. With a collection of ballpoint pen on paper drawings rife with alcohol, debauchery and your typical lusty eyed cool kids, you'll feel like you were flipping through your own photographic diary - not that she was spying on you or anything.

Through Wednesday, October 4 2006.

534 West 22nd Street, 6th Floor, 212 647 9111.
